Welcome to our courses and activities!

Welcome to the Martinus Centre in Klint!

In this programme you will find an introduction to the Martinus Centre, Klint and an overview of our online and on-site courses and lectures.

The Martinus Centre, Klint is a centre for courses and holidays in the middle of the county of Odsherred's beautiful countryside. Here you can enjoy the peace and quiet of the countryside and the company of other participants while you immerse yourself in the spiritual world picture of the Danish writer Martinus.

In 1935 the centre in Klint was founded by Martinus as Denmark's first holiday camp. It has developed over the years to become a modern centre with facilities for courses, a lecture hall, café, restaurant, camping site and charming holiday homes including summer cottages and pavilions.

There are plenty of opportunities to take part in inspiring conversations – for example, in the café or restaurant – while the surrounding countryside tempts participants to go for walks with others or to reflect quietly. All of this – and the beautiful natural surroundings – form the cosy, physical framework for your stay in Klint.

As always, there are two international Summer Weeks with lectures, afternoon seminars and study groups in English. During the second week, there will be three morning lectures in English and a special introductory programme designed to promote contact between course participants from different countries. Read more about our two Summer Weeks on p. 13–19.

During the International Weeks, we also broadcast all lectures live on our Crowdcast channel.

In 2026 we also continue our online study group based on a systematic study of Martinus' main work Livets Bog (The Book of Life) by reading volume 5 over 22 sessions. Read more on p. 11.

On our website you can find information about our upcoming events and read Martinus' works in our online library. You can also subscribe to our magazine Kosmos and listen to our English podcast.

We look forward to meeting you!

Martinus and his works

In the little town of Sindal in northern Jutland the Danish writer Martinus (1890–1981) was born out of wedlock to the housekeeper of Kristiansminde, a large farm, and grew up as a foster child of his mother's brother and his wife. They had a large family, but they took loving care of yet another child. Even as a child Martinus felt a close, personal relationship to God. But his God was loving – not strict and punitive, as the local, evangelical priest had taught him. He thus felt a strong connection to a spiritual providence but could not come to terms with the interpretation of Christianity of that time.

A new world picture was born

In his youth Martinus was trained as a dairyman and worked for a number of years in various dairies around the country. In 1917 he moved to Copenhagen where he, among other things, got an office job at a dairy called Enighed. But in 1921 something epoch-making happened for the then 30-year-old man. He had an extensive spiritual experience that gave him permanent intuitive access to life's eternal dimension. This changed the course of his life for ever. The experience enabled him to describe a new, spiritual world picture, which he spent the rest of his life communicating. This world picture expresses both a clear and law-bound connection between the physical and the spiritual world and a positive, loving vision of the evolution and future of the whole of mankind – a completely optimistic view of life.

Great interest in Martinus

During the following decades Martinus worked untiringly and wrote, among other things, a series of books, of which his main work is Livets Bog (The Book of Life). Martinus called his collected works The Third Testament. A continually widening circle of enthusiasts contributed both practically and financially to disseminating his works at home and abroad. This support made it possible to establish the Martinus Institute in Frederiksberg, Copenhagen and the Martinus Centre, Klint in the county of Odsherred, Denmark.

Indefatigably Martinus continued his modest and hard-working life in the service of spiritual science – always in close collaboration with his many friends and other Martinus enthusiasts. Today Martinus' works are translated into over 20 languages and are studied in depth by thousands of people the world over. Before his death in 1981 Martinus handed over his life's work to a fund, which still – with the help of a few employees and a great number of volunteers – keeps his world picture and its dissemination alive.

Learn about Martinus in many ways

At the Martinus Centre, Klint interest in Martinus' world picture is at the centre of our activities. There are many ways of studying Martinus depending on your own wishes. Some people just drop in on the centre's café for a cup of coffee and to hear a lecture, while others study Martinus' spiritual science in depth for weeks or years at a time. In addition, there is accommodation for retreat guests during the spring and autumn.

At the centre we have activities for all tastes in the Scandinavian languages all the year round. Many of our activities take place during the summer half of the year, not least during the school holidays from the end of June to mid-August. For the moment the centre's activities in English take place mainly during the two International Weeks at the end of our summer season. We have also developed our possibilities for offering activities both online and on-site, including an online study group from January to December. Our summer activities include:

Lectures (on-site and online):

During our International Weeks we give daily morning lectures in the Scandinavian languages. These are simultaneously translated into English. There are evening lectures in English. All summer lectures are broadcast via our online Crowdcast channel. We also have a number of free online lectures and courses on our YouTube channel.

Study groups (on-site and online):

The International Courses during the summer offer the possibility for newcomers and more experienced students to join introductory study groups and more in-depth study groups based on Martinus' books and articles. We offer an online study group on Livets Bog (The Book of Life): read more on p. 11. This summer we also offer several on-site study groups in English. Read more information on p. 14–15.

Symbol explanations:

Martinus drew and painted 100 symbols, most of which will be explained in group sessions in English offering the opportunity for participants to put their questions and to study the symbols in depth.

For more information see our website.

Here you can also see Martinus' symbols and read some of his works online.

Online study group in English January–December 2026

The Third Testament – Livets Bog (The Book of Life), vol. 5 Alternate Fridays at 19.00–20.30 CET

In 2026 we continue our systematic study of Martinus' main work Livets Bog (The Book of Life) by reading volume 5 over 22 sessions. Newcomers are welcome.

An essential text for all interested in sex and spirituality, The Third Testament – Livets Bog (The Book of Life), vol. 5 explores the ongoing evolution of human sexuality and its connection to spiritual development. Martinus presents an analysis of marriage and relationships, sexual orientation and many more topics. Martinus describes how sexual evolution is driven by two poles in our consciousness: the “masculine pole” and the “feminine pole”, the relative size of which determines our sexual nature. Human sexuality evolves continuously through reincarnation and the changing constellation of these poles. A completely one-poled state results in a primitive moral standard. A completely “two-poled state”, in which the male and female poles are equal and balanced in our consciousness, results in the very highest moral standard and is the organic structure for neighbourly love. Martinus presents a framework for understanding sexual evolution that can give us a better insight into our own identity and help us navigate through the changing sexual landscape.

The group will meet on Zoom every second week on Friday evenings 19.00–20.30 CET (Central European Time/Copenhagen). There will be a break during the summer.

Term dates:

Summer Week 5

Saturday 25th July–Saturday 1st August

THEME: Peace is Coming

All of nature's cycles – such as the cycle of water, the cycle of day and night, and the four seasons – speak of a cosmic principle: that after darkness comes light. Human evolution is now embarking on a cosmic spring, where the coldness of intolerance and war will gradually be replaced by the warmth of peace and love. We can all become an active part of the coming of spring.

Support our work

The Martinus Centre, Klint and the Martinus Institute are to a great extent based on the principle of giving. Every year we receive very many gifts, partly in the form of voluntary work on a large scale and partly in the form of monetary gifts and legacies. The gifts that we receive ensure that we can continue and develop our many activities and tasks, such as the publication of Martinus' original works and their translations, information, teaching, the digitalisation of the works, the maintenance of buildings, the renewal of furnishings and installations etc.

See here how you can support our work in the form of monetary gifts as well as through legacies and inheritancies.

Visit the Martinus Institute in Copenhagen

You are welcome to visit the Martinus Institute on Mariendalsvej, Frederiksberg, Copenhagen. Here you can see Martinus' historical flat which has been preserved as a museum. Visitors are welcome to see the environment in which Martinus spent most of his time and spent many hours writing his cosmic analyses, conducting meetings with his co-workers, receiving guests from home and abroad etc. The flat is preserved in the same form as it had when he used it with his typewriter, furniture and inventory; some of his original symbols still hang on the walls.

We kindly ask you to contact the Institute in advance to arrange a time for your visit by e-mail: info@martinus.dk or by phone: +45 38 38 01 00.
